Articles & press interactions

In the table below, links to the 12 articles in local media are listed, including non-professional articles in local newspapers dedicated to general public about REFURB learning during the project period. One of these articles is a scientific article from Aalborg University, planned to be published after the project period, in spring 2018. An abstract for the scientific article can be found on go-refurb.eu. As seen below, 1-3 articles/press interactions were published per region. In the GA a target of 1 article per region was set.
